

*I chose you for the world,
to go and bear fruit,
fruit that will last.*

Dear Parents,

I attended a funeral yesterday for a man who was 94 years old. Most funerals for folks who reach 94 years of age are small. Most of their friends and some of their relatives have passed on already. But not this funeral. The church was packed with relatives, friends, and so many others whose lives he touched. The fruit he bore, lasted! God chooses all of us to bear fruit, will yours last?
